Children of Vet May Get Special Aid for School

With "back to school" time almost here again, the children of every veteran who died because of wartime military service should be told about the opportunity for higher education open to them, declared Mrs. Helen K. Dill, Director of Torrance Area Veterans Service Center.

"The Veterans Administration," said Mrs. Dill, "may pay each child up to $110 a month while taking college or vocational training from the ages of 18 to 23."

Applications Due This educational assistance grant, payable in lieu of compensation, becomes effective in October, but the time to apply for it is right now. The Veterans Administration has just issued an application form which youngsters — or their parents or guardians — must fill out.

"Filling out this application is just the first step," observed Mrs. Dill. "After that the child must be interviewed and a satisfactory training objective has to be selected. The school he attends and the courses he takes must be approved. Children should know as much as possible about the VA's requirements before they enroll in a school or college."

Age Waived Older children may be able to study with VA assistance beyond their 23rd birthdays under certain conditions, for example if they cannot enroll because of their own military service.

An extra break for eligible California children is the aid available to them through California's own orphans' education plan. The State can pay them $20 a month in high school from the age of 16 until they enroll in the Federal plan, and may pay them $40 a month if they are still going to college after that benefit is exhausted, until they are 27 years old.

For information, assistance and an application form, come in at once to Veterans Service Center, 1622 Gramercy Ave., Torrance, and become informed.

Walcott Oldest Champ Jersey Joe Walcott was the oldest man in boxing history to win the world's heavyweight title when he knocked out the champion, Ezzard Charles, in 55 seconds of the seventh round of their fight at Pittsburgh, Pa. Walcott was 37 years old at the time.

Residents Back Franklin Fight On Post Office

Scores of citizens gave added support during the past three days to charges made here Thursday that the area's postal service had been allowed to deteriorate during recent years through the laxity of the area's representative in Congress.

A HERALD story Thursday cited the charges made by Congressional Nominee Charles Franklin on the situations existing in the Torrance and Lawndale postal delivery areas. "Following publication of the letter carriers' reports earlier this week, my campaign headquarters received 93 phone calls from Torrance area people disturbed about their mail delivery," Franklin said yesterday.

Among the complaints made to Franklin's office included reports that areas had no mail service at all, and that some areas had to gather and redistribute the deliveries because it was done incorrectly.

Sales Taxes Paid Torrance will receive $17,880 as its share of the $1,934,929 being distributed to 47 cities in Los Angeles County by the State Board of Equalization, on the basis of local sales taxes collected by the state body prior to Apr. 1.

Four Persons Hurt Four persons received serious injuries in two traffic collisions Thursday in the Shoestring Strip area according to Harbor police.

Three were hurt when a car driven by John W. Bossard, 58, of 1500 W. 220th St., collided with one driven by Lillian A. Dennis, 32, of 21240 S. Hobart St. at Western and 220th.

City Vet Retires Fred Eshom, 1915 Andreo Ave., retired after 23 years service with the Municipal Street Dept. in brief ceremonies at the City Garage Friday afternoon.

Eshom, 70 years of age, has been a resident of Torrance since 1923 and an employee of the city since 1934.

Born in Atchison, Kan., he moved to Colorado and then to California, following the oil fields, before settling in Torrance.

Sea Buddies Caught Two sea companions have been captured and taken to Marineland together. A great blue shark, weighing 150 pounds and his "side kick" a five inch remora fish are inseparable, thanks to a suction cup on the remora's dorsal fin. The tenacious remora feeds on crumbs that his host misses.

Certificates Awarded Included in 83 officers and men of the 40th Armored Division receiving certificates for completing a three-day course in military intelligence were, M/Sgt. Theodore Stafford, 21409 Anza Ave., and Pvt. Wallace Davidson Jr., 20427 "D" Catalina.

Law and Order Losing "Inch by inch, the forces of law and order are fighting a losing battle against crime." So declared Lynn Compton, assistant district attorney in charge of the Long Beach headquarters of the L. A. County prosecutor's office in a talk before the Torrance Rotary club Thursday night.

Attorney Compton, a resident of Palos Verdes, was introduced by Councilman Willys Blount who characterized the speaker as a "forceful square-shooting operator."

Headquarters Opened Tom Brewer, of Torrance,

Republican nominee for the State Legislature, announced the opening of his Torrance Headquarters at 1328 Sartori Ave.

New Bar President William B. Kenne, deputy attorney in charge of the South Bay area office, was named president of the South Bay District Bar Assn. at its annual election meeting this week. He succeeds Albert Isen in the post.
